Officer Commanding of the Embedded Partner Team Kandahar Response Team DOI: 07 May – 08 May 2011

“In a series of bold and coordinated attacks across the rugged Afghan terrain Taliban insurgents attempted to shift their fighting from the countryside to the crowded urban streets of the nation’s major cities, in the spring of 2011. The enemy selected key targets including areas of high tactical value throughout Kandahar City, the provincial capital and focal point of the insurgency.

On May 7, 2011, shots rang out close to an Afghan Police checkpoint just outside the walls of the Kandahar Provincial Response Company (K-PRC) compound. As the attacks in the city grew in intensity, the Afghan government decided to call K-PRC to help quell the surge.

The Kandahar Provincial Response Company (K-PRC) was a well-trained and well-led, limited-notice response force comprised primarily of Afghan police who were trained and mentored by crack soldiers of Canadian Special Forces Operation Command (CANSOFCOM). After brief orders were issued to the force, including their Canadian Special Operations Regiment (CSOR) mentors, they moved to the centre of the city to conduct a reconnaissance on the massive building they were requested to clear by the American Force Commander. What they saw in front of them was a maze of vender stalls and shops littered with rugs and tapestries capable of hiding even the largest enemy opposition force from sight. Over the next 24 hours, the K-PRC would face one of its greatest challenges and stretched its personnel, leadership, and mentors to the brink.

“The conspicuous combat actions of these Special Forces Operators in the battle of Building 4 was borne of hard training and personified an admirable dedication to mission success,” said Lieutenant-Colonel Hank Szelezcz, commanding officer of CSOR. “Their actions were merely a reflection of the dedication, professionalism and commitment that all men and women of the Canadian Armed Forces demonstrate on a daily basis in defending Canadians, and our country.”

As a result of this event, seven members of the Regiment were awarded the following: two Stars of Military Valour (SMV), one Meritorious Service Cross (MSC), one Medal of Military Valour (MMV), one Mention In Dispatches (MID), and three Chief of the Defence Staff Commendations. Governor General David Johnston and General Tom Lawson, CDS presented the majority of these awards at Rideau Hall on June 7. A CANFORGEN will be released in extension of CANFORGEN 052/13 – Honours Announcement with additional information.

The distinguished leadership, courageous service and self-sacrifice of the above mentioned CSOR members reflect extremely well on CANSOFCOM and the greater CAF community. On behalf of Commander CANSOFCOM, sincere congratulations are extended to all recipients.

“On 22 June 2013, His Excellency the Right Honourable David Johnston, Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of Canada, announces the awarding a Star of Military Valour and one Meritorious Service Cross to a member of the Canadian Special Operations Forces Command (CANSOFCOM).”

The Officer Commanding of the Embedded Partner Team responsible for mentoring the Kandahar Provincial Response Company was awarded the Star of Military Valour. On May 7/8, 2011, this member bravely led and mentored his team through a close quarter clearance operation of a multi-storied building. Under intense fire and at great personal risk, he valiantly coordinated multiple assaults and successfully neutralized the insurgent threat. This member was also awarded the Meritorious Service Cross for dramatically improving the operational effectiveness of the Kandahar Provincial Response Company, thereby enhancing both the Afghan Rule of Law and the overall legitimacy of the Afghan government.”

Awarded the Star of Military Valour (SMV) as per the Canada Gazette of 06 June 2015 in the rank of Captain.

Medals: Star of Military Valour (SMV) – Meritorious Service Cross (MSC) – General Campaign Star with SWA ribbon and two extra tour bars – CD

“From December 2014 to April 2015, Lieutenant-Colonel O’Neil displayed exemplary leadership as the Canadian contingent commander in the combined Canadian and British military-led fight against Ebola in Sierra Leone. He ensured his team was trained to the highest levels of clinical governance and that they maintained strict care protocols, resulting in a 100 per cent grading by the World Health Organization Inspection Team. Lieutenant-Colonel O’Neil’s extraordinary level of professionalism during a challenging deployment inspired his personnel and brought great honour to Canada.”

Medals: MSC – Southwest Asia with bar Afghanistan – General Campaign Star with SWA ribbon – Peacekeeping – UN – Diamond Jubilee - CD – MBE - Ebola Medal (British)

Awarded Member of the Order of the British Empire (MBE) as per the Canada Gazette of 24 September 2016 and the London Gazette of 23 September 2016 (to be dated 16 March 2016) in the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel

LCol O’Neil was born in Bathurst, N.B. and commands 2 Field Ambulance.

Task Force Sirona was comprised of 37 Canadian Armed Forces doctors, nurses, medics and support staff from CFB Petawawa's 2 Field Ambulance and 1 Canadian Field Hospital units. After flying out of CFB Trenton Dec. 6, the group arrived in Sierra Leone Dec. 20 and are based at the U.K.’s 20-bed Kerry Town Treatment Unit. It sits next to an 80-bed treatment centre operated by the Save the Children charity. They face a daunting task. Officials estimate about half of people infected with Ebola virus die, and those living with the disease are often in grave condition. The World Health Organization has logged about 19,500 reports of Ebola virus disease and nearly 7,600 deaths, though authorities say actual numbers may be much higher than reported.

Caring for the ill and containing the virus is dangerous work. A Scottish nurse volunteering with Save the Children contracted the virus and on Wednesday was undergoing treatment in Glasgow. Yet O'Neil explained the Canadians are ready to work after receiving rigorous training. That's included instruction in the critical steps of putting on and removing protective equipment and sessions on ethics, respectful patient care and mental-health preparedness.

“Honestly, they're really motivated to get into the facility at Kerry Town,” O'Neil said. “The motivation stems from the level of training they've had. That puts people's minds at ease.” The team is on a 56-day rotation, though the command group led by O'Neil will stay in place for at least three to six months, he said.

The stress of treating the dying and critically ill means there's also a mental-health nursing officer on the task force. “She sees the bulk of our clinicians on a daily basis,” O'Neil said. “They're not reporting to her but she makes herself available.” Though O'Neil and others on the team have had other overseas missions, it's a new experience for some.
