Interests & Sports

Hockey [Montreal Maroons], Rowing [Lachine Rowing club], Squash [Montreal Badminton and Squash Club], and Tennis.

During the War and after, he loved sailing and spent many happy years sailing his boats in Halifax, NS and Kennebunk Beach, Maine where we summered.

In retirement sailing, music and time spent with his family and grand children gave him great pleasure. He was a member of the Naval Officers Association of Canada, the United Services Club, St James Club, Engineers Club, in addition to those referenced above

A keen reader and until the time of his death enjoyed a well-earned retirement.

H.M.C.S. Georgian [Bangor Class Minesweeper], Wartime Pendant No. J-144, was built in Toronto by Dufferin Shipbuilding Company, Launched on 28 January 1941 and Commissioned, in Toronto, on 23 September 1941.

Complement: 6 Officers, 77 Other Ranks

Wartime career: arrived in Halifax on October 13 and was assigned to Sydney Force. From January 1942 to February 1944 she was a member of the Newfoundland Force. On June 21, 1942, through a breakdown in communication, she rammed and sank the British A/S training submarine P. 514 off Cape Pine, Newfoundland. On February 18, 1944, with sisters Bayfield, Mulgrave and Thunder, she left Halifax for the U.K. via the Azores. She was present on D Day and performed mine clearance work for many months afterward. After refitting in Lunenburg, N.S., early in 1945, she resumed service in European waters until returning to Sydney, where she was paid off October 23, 1956. Fate: sold in 1946, probably for scrap.

"For good service in the destruction of an enemy submarine."

HMCS Swansea shared with HMS Pelican in the sinking of U-448. U-448 was trying to sink the aircraft carrier attached to the strike group. Chapter 37 of 'The Canadian Naval Chronicle 1939-1945' gives details on this sinking. Ferrier described the events this way: The depth charges damaged it bad enough that it was forced to surface and the submarine had to be abandoned. HMCS Swansea lowered a whaler to pick up the German survivors of the U-Boat. A shipmate Albert Hurtubise was in the whaler and notice one of the German officers pull out a pistol and Albert reached over and knocked it out of his hand and it landed in the ocean.

Others who received honours for this sinking were:

Lieutenant Commander Clarence King, DSO, DSC, (MID)

Lieutenant John Milburn, the asdic officer

Leading Seaman Albert Hurtubise

FINCH. John Ray, 2840, LS, RCN, MID~[9.9.44]

"For courage, resolution and devotion to duty in HMCS Haida in action with enemy destroyers in rescuing survivors from HMCS Athabaskan.

While on patrol in the Bay of Biscay Patrol area at 1300 Hours on 27 August 1943, HMCS Athabaskan was attacked by eighteen enemy Dornier-217s. HMS Egret (British Sloop) was sunk. A glide bomb hit HMCS Athabaskan at the junction of "B" gun-deck and the wheel-house. It passed under the plot room, through the Chief Petty Officer's Mess, and out the starboard side. It exploded barely a few feet beyond and bomb fragments pierced HMCS Athabaskan's side and bridge in a number of places. HMCS Athabaskan continued on at 14 knots, correcting a serious list to starboard. The ship sailed into port on 30 August 1943 under her own power. The ship was battered but not broken. See the book "Unlucky Lady".

"For distinguished service in successful patrols in H.M. Submarines."

HM Submarine P-34 attacked a convoy off the North African coast consisting of three large freighters escorted by eleven warships and three aircraft. They had one hit on a freighter and headed for safety. The ship then had eighty plus depth charges sent after them and far exceeded the submarine's designed Divisioning depth. Lt. Forbes figured out a way to transfer clean water and pump it overboard while keeping the bilge water in the submarine so as not to give away her position. The submarine escaped her pursuers. From a booklet "The Canadian Wartime Submariners" by J. David Perkins.

FRASER, Walter Reginald, Leading Sick Berth Attendant (V-11946) - Mention in Despatches - RCNVR / 29th Canadian MTB Flotilla - Awarded as per Canada Gazette of 15 September 1945 and London Gazette of 24 July 1945.

Home: Saskatoon, Saskatchewan.

See page 115 of "Operation Sick Bay". He was the Sick Bay Attendant who worked with Surgeon Lieutenant Leslie as the medical team for the 29th Canadian MTB Flotilla. Leslie and Fraser were returning with medical supplies from a local hospital when they saw the explosion.

FRASER, Walter Reginald, V-11946, L/SBA, RCNVR, MID~[15.9.45]

"For good services in a fire at Ostend, 14th February 1945."

During the afternoon of 14 February 1945, several flotillas including the 29th Canadian were tied up at Ostend Harbour. Highly volatile gasoline had been washed into the water and became ignited. A wall of flames engulfed the MTBs and five of the eight boats of the 29th Flotilla were destroyed along with seven British boats. There were 26 Canadians and 35 British sailors killed in the fire. For their work on injured crew members, Surgeon Lieutenant Leslie and LSBA Fraser received MIDs.

See page 391 of 'Far Distant Ships' for details of his role during the fire at Ostend.

Page 236 in 'The Champagne Navy' describes how Leslie and Fraser were entering Ostend when the first blast shook the city. They were returning with a truckload of medical supplies. On seeing the fire, Leslie and Fraser raced onto the jetty and "performed splendid services in attending to wounded men and worked gallantly under flying rockets and debris rescuing the injured".

FULLER, Thomas George, Temporary Lieutenant - Distinguished Service Cross (DSC) - RCNVR / HM MTB - Awarded as per London Gazette of 14 July 1942 (no Canada Gazette).

Home: Ottawa, Ontario.

He operated a construction company in Ottawa before the war.

After being turned down by the Air Force even though he was already a pilot, he joined the Navy and sailed from Montreal to England and King Alfred.

To HMS Leitia, HMS Chitral and HMS Chitral (all Armed Merchant Cruisers) to learn navigation for 4 1/2 months.

To HMS Christopher at Fort William, Scotland, for small-boat training.

His first appointment was as Second Lieutenant on a harbour defence motor launch in Belfast.

He was then given Command of Motor Anti-Submarine Boat (MASB-49) based at Dover.

Next was with the Second MGB Flotilla in Command of MGB-11 again out of Dover.

He then went to HMS Vernon for a torpedo course.

Then back to Dover with a new boat. This boat was destroyed on 1 August 1942.

He went home to Canada and returned to the UK on the Queen Elizabeth. At Southwick, he took over MTB-654, a new 'D' Class MTB and then sailed for the Mediterranean.

On the way three, the convoy of MTBs was attacked by a Focke-Wulfe Condor aircraft 800 miles due west of Cap Finisterre and one of them was set on fire. He picked up 26 survivors from a German submarine that had been sunk. One of the survivors was a cook from the submarine and he signed him into the Royal Navy and made them their cook! They made it to Gibraltar and then to Bone, North Africa. They moved to Malta before the invasion of Sicily.

Served as Flotilla Commander in the Mediterranean and gained the nickname of 'Pirate of the Adriatic' for his commando-like raids on shipping and for turning much of the booty over to Tito and the partisans. Chapter 11 of "Salty Dips, Volume 1" has a detailed record of Fuller's career written by him. After the war, was Commanding Officer of HMCS Carleton (Ottawa Naval Reserve Division) from 1945 to 1951. He returned to construction and was involved in much of the building work in the Ottawa region over the years. Very active in local charities helping young people and the underprivileged. He died on 9 May 1994, age 86, in Ottawa.

"This Officer, prior to receiving his commission, served as a Defensively Equipped Merchant Ship's Gunlayer, and was at sea almost continuously for three years. He was twice torpedoed, once on the S.S. Lady Drake in May 1942, off Algiers, on the S.S. Ocean Vanquisher in December, 1942, also off Algiers. The Ocean Vanquisher was saved largely through the efforts of the Defensively Equipped Merchant Ship's gunners aboard under direction of this gunlayer. During his service as gunlayer aboard several Defensively Equipped Merchant Ships, he displayed an exceptional ability to take charge and to gain confidence of those working with him."

The citation is wrong. The S.S. Lady Drake was not torpedoed off Algiers but was torpedoed by U-106 190 miles North of Bermuda (35-43N, 64-43W) at about 2100 hours 04 May 1942. Six passengers and six crew were killed; the other 260 / 274 passengers / crew made away safely in 5 boats and were picked up 3 days later by an American minesweeper.
