- Awarded as per London Gazette of 14 June 1945.

Born: 1919 on a farm outside Yorkton, Saskatchewan

He joined the RCN in April 1938 and trained at Naden.

He then joined HMCS Ottawa (Destroyer) and served until December 1940 (except for 3 months spent at Gunnery School in Halifax qualifying as a layer rating third class).

In December 1940 he went to HMS Drake at Plymouth for the LR2 course.

He then joined HMCS Saguenay in 1941 at Greenock, Scotland and was advanced to Leading Seaman. During his time in Saguenay the ship experienced a fierce storm that lasted seven days.

He then went to Stadacona for his LR1 course. He met Miss Constance Kennedy and married her in June 1942.

He joined HMCS Assiniboine and was advanced to Chief Petty Officer. He was Director Layer in HMCS Assiniboine when U-210 was sunk on 06 August 1942. The action in which HMCS Assiniboine (River Class Destroyer - D118) sank U-210 on 06 August 1942 in the North Atlantic while protecting Convoy SC-94 is described in Chapter 14 of "The Canadian Naval Chronicle 1939-1945".

In the early spring of 1943, he went back to Stadacona as an instructor in the Gunnery School.

He was in the advance guard which opened up the RCN training establishment HMCS Cornwallis at Deep Brook, Nova Scotia. He was in charge of the first class under instruction there.

In December 1943, he joined HMCS Sioux at Cowes in the Isle of Wight and became the ship Coxswain. He saw service in HMCS Sioux on D-Day and for many days after. He was then on the Murmansk run which would give him the Arctic Star today. He received the Distinguished Service Medal (DSM) while serving in HMCS Sioux.

He finished his war service at Peregrine, Stadacona and Naden until July 1947 when he joined HMCS Crescent as Chief Boatswain's Mate.

In July 1948 he was drafted to Royal Roads to instruct cadets in seamanship.

He then joined HMCS Crusader when it commissioned in April 1951.

This was his 6th destroyer that he served in.

He continued in the RCN post war and served in HMCS Athabaskan in Korea. He received the British Empire Medal (BEM) for his service on HMCS Athabaskan.

He died on 02 May 2008 in Victoria.

VLACHOS, Theodore Harry ('Ted'), Telegraphist (SO) (V-54941) - British Empire Medal (BEM) - RCNVR / Harbour Grace Special Wireless Telegraphy Station - Awarded as per Canada Gazette of 5 January 1946 and London Gazette of 1 January 1946.

Home: Caledonia, Ontario.

While at high school in Caledonia, Ontario Ted was taught wireless by the Army. This training greatly assisted him after joining the Navy in 1942 at HMCS Star in Hamilton, Ontario and once transferred to Naval Head Quarters in Ottawa where they were learning to track German subs.

His course was 2 weeks behind and he was unable to go to the wireless station based in Harbour Grace, Newfoundland as scheduled. He was most fortunate because the ship taking the forces there was sunk by a German sub and 132 people were lost.

Ted went to the Gander Airport in Newfoundland to help keep track of the bombers going to England who were getting lost. They monitored subs in their spare time. He eventually was transferred to Harbour Grace and spent the next two years helping "catch and sink subs faster than the Germans could build them". This was a crucial posting that resulted in useful information being provided to the Navy and armed forces leading to the successful locating and destroying of numerous enemy submarines.

He returned home in the spring of 1945 to operate the family restaurant business for his ill father while he recuperated. The Germans surrendered in May 1945 followed by the Japanese and Ted was discharged. He returned to Newfoundland and married his sweetheart Grace Anita Parsons.

Ted had a long work history involving initially the restaurant and candy making business. He and his family including children Harry and Valerie moved to Guelph, Ontario where he operated a variety store. He moved on to have a successful sales career with Sears Canada and later managed a Home Hardware store in Brantford, Ontario. He retired in 1992 from Roots Home Hardware in Guelph. Ted and his wife relocated to the Niagara Falls, Ontario area where they still reside.

Ted is very proud of his two children. Valerie is an Office Manager living in Burlington, Ontario and Harry is a Business Consultant who resides with his wife Sheila in Peterborough, Ontario. Ted has one granddaughter Brooke who is a graduate of the Food and Hospitality Program at the University of Guelph.

Ted Vlachos remains a loyal Canadian who served his country with dedication, determination and honour. He sincerely appreciates the special recognition including the British Empire Medal bestowed upon him at the conclusion of the war.

VLACHOS. Theodore Harry, V-54941, Tele(SO), RCNVR, BEM~[5.1.46]

"This Rating, who was employed at the Harbour Grace Special Wireless Telegraphy Station, was a keen and conscientious operator, whose hard work greatly improved the Station's overall efficiency and served as a fine example for the less experienced operators. Through his outstanding efforts, Naval Service Headquarters was furnished with valuable information which helped keep track of the U-Boats and hasten the war to an end."

Medals: BEM – 1939/1945 War Medal – Canadian Volunteer Service Medal – Defence Medal
